

To Honor A Loved One

Coffs Harbour - November 25, 26, 27

You're Invited...

Life's challenges sometimes bring us into painful conflict with those we love; conflict which can result in suffering that lasts a lifetime and trauma that gets passed on to others.

Sometimes the wake up call we receive comes when our loved one dies, and feelings such as grief, anger, resentment and regret remind us of the love we had but didn't fully give.

Joining our sacred circle at the To Honor A Loved One retreat is an opportunity to devote time now to honoring a loved one and all they mean to us. The courageous inner work in this retreat can bring about unpredictable miracles of the heart and set our spirits free—ours and even theirs.

This is the invitation of our To Honor A Loved One retreats: to come alive with our love and free ourselves and loved ones from unnecessary suffering.

If you're considering joining us, first ask your heart to choose a loved one with whom you're facing conflict, distance or suffering: your mother or father; brother or sister; son or daughter; husband, wife or former partner.

We invite you to come in the spirit of giving your time, your energy and your love to this one person. Giving, not from expectation or obligation; but rather giving as an act of trusting and loving.

We invite you to come in the spirit of participating in a sacred gathering in a spirit of openness, emptiness and contribution—ready to share, to connect and to receive.

We invite you to come ready to listen to the authority your heart and your body, trusting and honoring the wisdom that resides within.
